Truckers are the eyes and ears of our nation's highways. Young girls forced into sexual slavery need your help. If you see a minor working the lot or suspect pimp control, call 1-888-3737-888 and report what you know.

- Truckers Against Trafficking (TAT) has been working with the trucking industry since 2009 to educate, equip, empower and mobilize industry members to fight human trafficking as part of their everyday jobs.
- Washington state requires minimum training for individuals seeking to obtain a Commercial Driver's License.
- Effective July 1, 2017 Washington will become the second state in the nation to require TAT training as part of the training schools' curriculum.
- This training consists of a 26-minute trucking-industry-specific training DVD.
- Drivers will be given a wallet card they can carry with them at all times with phone number and detailed information to report to the Hotline and questions to ask and red flags to look for if they suspect they are seeing a victim of human trafficking.
- As of Dec. 31, 2016, calls from truckers numbered more than 1589, with 503 likely cases of human trafficking, involving 1098 victims, 299 of which were minors.
