Survey: PDPS Inquiry for Airline Pilots

AAMVA is seeking information regarding the way NDR/PDPS is currently being provided by jurisdictions. The airline industry is mandated under the Pilot Record Improvement Act (PRIA) to check the National Driver Registry (NDR) as part of the screening process for airline pilots. While access to the NDR is typically provided by State Driver License Agencies (SDLAs) through the Problem Driver Pointer System (PDPS), some SDLAs have recently stopped this service for airlines. As a result, airline representatives have asked AAMVA to provide NDR/PDPS access to the airline industry under PRIA. AAMVA would first like to assess how this service is currently being provided by the jurisdictions before determining how to work with the airline industry. Please respond to this survey by July 9, 2019.

Automatic Voter Registration Bill Moves a Step Closer to Law in Maine

Mainers would be able to register to vote when they get or renew a driver's license under a bill approved by the state Senate on Tuesday that creates an automatic voter registration system. The bill, sponsored by House Speaker Sara Gideon, D-Freeport, is now headed to the desk of Gov. Janet Mills for consideration. If signed into law by Mills, the measure would allow residents to automatically register to vote when they do business with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles or other authorized state agencies. Those old enough to vote would automatically be registered to their voting precincts based on their address when they get or renew a state-issued driver's license or identification card. The original June deadline has been extended. The initial recall applied to 66,300 residents, but the number of people affected is now down to 40,000. Read the article at ourcommunitynow.com.

NH State Police Annual Commercial Vehicle Compliance Road Check Nets 1,205 Violations (New Hampshire)

New Hampshire State Troopers conducted its annual Commercial Vehicle Safety Alliance's (CVSA) International Roadcheck June 4-6, a 72-hour enforcement initiative where commercial motor vehicle inspectors throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico check large trucks and motorcoaches at inspection sites, weigh stations, strategic locations, and roving patrols. The State Police is pleased to announce that there were no fatal motor vehicles crashes involving commercial motor vehicles during this period. Troopers checked 528 commercial vehicles and discovered 1,205 violations, of which 215 were so severe that they created a condition where the vehicle or its driver was placed out of service. In total, 106 vehicles were placed out of service for critical safety violations, while 30 drivers were placed out of service for violations including possessing drugs, operating after suspension, violating restrictions of driving hours, and not holding the proper class of driver's license. Troopers issued 84 citations and made one arrest as a result of commercial motor vehicle inspections. Read the article at manchesterinklink.com.

Bill Granting Drivers Licenses To Undocumented Immigrants Approved by State Assembly (New York)

The State Assembly approved a bill to allow undocumented immigrants to obtain drivers licenses. Before it can become law, the bill must pass the state Senate, where it is expected to be met with resistance and skepticism, including from some moderate Democrats. During a floor debate before the vote on Wednesday, June 12, Republican assemblymen said the legislation might open a 'back door' for criminals and even terrorists to obtain documents...Others said they had heard concerns from local Board of Elections about the possibility of illegal voting, if the non- citizens are inadvertently signing up at the DMV to vote...Supporters of the bill, including Democrat Phil Ramos of Long Island, think the bill will make all New Yorkers safer, because undocumented immigrants will learn to drive, and buy car insurance. Governor Cuomo Announces State Policy Crackdown on Speeding (New York)

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo announced that the New York State Police will target speeding and aggressive drivers during a special weeklong traffic enforcement initiative. This year's 'Speed Week' enforcement crackdown started Thursday, June 6 and runs through Wednesday, June 12. Troopers will also actively patrol highway work zones and will target drivers who violate New York's 'Move Over' Law. 'We will not tolerate speeding and reckless driving for a very simple reason: it puts everyone at risk and speeding is the leading cause of fatal crashes each year in New York State,' said Governor Cuomo 'We urge all drivers to make safety the top priority, obey speed limits, put down your electronic devices, and move over when you see emergency vehicles and highway workers on the side of the road.' Upgraded Driver's License & ID Cards Will Protect Vermonters Identity (Vermont)

The next time you go to the DMV you will likely notice a big change when it comes to your license or ID card. The Vermont Department of Motor Vehicles is giving the method of how they prepare your license or ID card a major upgrade-- for the sake of protecting your personal information. The rollout started Tuesday at the DMV in Rutland...Commissioner Wanda Minoli told us, the days of printing your license or ID card is a thing of the past because of how easy it has become to make a fake ID. She explains there are five layers, and each layer has its own security feature. 'Things that I can identify and highlight is that the signature is a raised signature.' Along with the driver's license number...Another noticeable change, the DMV will no longer ask a person's sex. Rather their gender. Read the article at mychamplainvalley.com.

Governor Ron DeSantis Signs CS/HB 311: Expanding Testing and Use of Autonomous Vehicles (Florida)

Governor Ron DeSantis signed CS/HB 311: Autonomous Vehicles, which removes unnecessary obstacles that hinder the development of autonomous vehicle technology and solidifies Florida's position as a leading state for transportation innovation. CS/HB 311 embraces the future of transportation by removing barriers to the advancement of autonomous vehicles and establishing a statewide statutory framework. 'Signing this legislation paves the way for Florida to continue as a national leader in transportation innovation and technological advancement,' said Governor DeSantis. 'I would like to thank the bill sponsors, Senator Jeff Brandes and Representative Jason Fischer, for their work in making Florida the most autonomous vehicle-friendly state in the country.' Rejected License Plates: These Car Tags Were Too Vulgar to Be Seen on Mississippi Roads

We've all seen them — personalized license plates that make a vehicle stand out or draw attention to the driver. But there are unique combinations of seven letters and numbers that we will never see. That's because the Mississippi Department of Motor Vehicles determines them to be too offensive. The Clarion Ledger wanted to know more about these rejected plates — how the decisions are made and what the requests were. Here's what we found. Read the article at clarionledger.com.

Saturday Tests at Mississippi DMVs off to a Nice Start

Usually a visit to the DMV can take anywhere from 30 minutes to 4 hours, but not anymore. 'The appointment was at 10, and it's now 10:18,' said Crystal Reed, a stepmom who took her two daughters to the DMV Saturday. 'It's awesome.' The Department of Public Safety's Jumpstart program allowed most of the people who came to take driving tests for licenses and permits to be fast-tracked...Since the tests are offered on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month from 8 a.m. to noon, parents don't have to miss work and children don't have to miss a day of school to sit and wait for a test. North Carolina Boosts Driver's License Durability for Real ID Program

As REAL ID programs start to mature across the country, new lessons about driver's license durability are starting to emerge. One recent mark comes from North Carolina, where PPG shared that North Carolina's Division of Motor Vehicles has experienced a 'dramatic reduction in customer card replacements and attempted fraud through the use of PPG TESLIN substrate for driver's licenses and identification cards'...'Teslin substrate delivers durability and adaptability at a cost that reflects 'mindful stewardship' of the state's financial resources,' said Torre J. Jessup, commissioner, North Carolina DMV. 'It enabled us to design one of the most secure REAL ID-compliant cards available. The substrate hosts all of our advanced security features in a highly durable card at a reasonable cost, and its material properties can readily accommodate our future security needs as well.' Ohio Offering Amnesty Program to Regain Driver's Licenses

Ohio suspended the driver's licenses of more than 1 million people, many of whom can't afford to get those licenses back. But that doesn't mean they're not on the road. So until July 31, the state is offering a limited amnesty. On paper, it looks like Ohio is forgiving $500 million dollars in reinstatement penalties. However, advocates see it as a crucial investment in people, jobs and community. Many poor and working-class people can't afford to stop driving just because their licenses are suspended. The amnesty program now in effect recognizes that and two other realities many of these people face. They also can't afford huge reinstatement fees. Wisconsin Budget Committee Approves Transportation Funding Plan Carrying $95 Title Fee Hike

The Wisconsin Legislature's budget committee signed off Thursday on a Republican-backed transportation proposal that would boost vehicle title fees by $95 and raise car registration costs. The plan also looks to clamp down on the level of security and protection Lt. Gov. Mandela Barnes can receive and adopts language that would impact local governments' ability to regulate quarries, where materials are mined for transportation and other projects. The proposal, which passed on an 11-5 vote over opposition from Democrats and GOP Sen. Duey Stroebel, doesn't include the gas tax hike Gov. Tony Evers sought in his budget proposal and instead relies largely on fee increases to generate new revenue. Read the article at madison.com.

Most New Mexicans Are Real ID-Compliant as Deadline Looms (New Mexico)

New Mexico now has 1 million residents with driver's licenses or identification cards that comply with tougher federal ID requirements that will take effect in 2020. Officials with the state Taxation and Revenue Department say people have just over a year to meet the deadline under the Real ID Act, which was passed in 2005 to strengthen rules for identification for airline flights and at federal facilities such as military bases. With the one-millionth license issued last week, about 70 percent of New Mexico licenses and identification cards now carry the gold star that marks them as being Real ID-compliant. Road Debris Can Be Deadly: Secure Your Load 'As If

Everyone You Love Is Driving in the Car Behind You' (Utah)

To understand the seriousness of properly securing your vehicle's load, consider this: AAA found that over a third of all deaths from road debris were caused by drivers swerving to avoid an object in the road. Thursday was 'National Secure Your Load Day,' but securing your load is important every day, especially considering the dangers that can come from loosely secured cargo. One of these dangers — fallen road debris — is scattered across Utah's highways and interstates. Utah Highway Patrol troopers see the consequences of this particular danger daily. In fact, road debris incidents are among the most frequent calls they respond to, according to a statement released by the Utah Department of Public Safety. Over the past three years, troopers have logged more than 78,000 road debris/hazard calls — that's an average of 71 times per day. Read the article at stgeorgeutah.com.

So, You Think You Can Drive (Well)? Your Fellow Commuters Might Not Agree (Washington, Oregon)

Can you parallel park like a pro? Are you the master of merging? Do you dismiss dangerous driving distractions? According to the latest poll from PEMCO Insurance, Northwest drivers think highly of their own basic driving skills, but they question how well fellow commuters perform behind the wheel. PEMCO's survey of Washington and Oregon drivers found that the vast majority of drivers rate themselves as 'excellent' or 'good' when it comes to proficiency in routine driving skills like parallel parking, merging, staying right except to pass, driving in the rain and avoiding distractions. But when asked to rate the abilities of fellow drivers, confidence among commuters dipped significantly across all categories. Read the article at finance.yahoo.com.

Low Levels of THC in Marijuana Don't Increase Crashes

While Driving, Study Finds

Smoking marijuana containing low levels of the drug's main psychoactive ingredient does not increase most drivers' risk of a crash even though Canada's impaired-drug laws would penalize them, says the lead investigator of a study that analyzed THC amounts in the blood samples of more than 3,000 people who were injured behind the wheel. Dr. Jeffrey Brubacher, associate professor in the department of emergency medicine at the University of British Columbia, said the findings apply to THC levels of less than five nanograms per millilitre of blood. Brubacher, a toxicologist who is also an emergency room physician at Vancouver General Hospital, said blood samples taken between 2010 and 2016 at seven trauma centres as part of clinical care were used for a broad spectrum of analysis measuring THC, other recreational drugs, such as cocaine, heroin and amphetamines, as well as sedating medication. Face Recognition Technology: DOJ and FBI Have Taken Some Actions in Response to GAO Recommendations to Ensure Privacy and Accuracy, but Additional Work Remains

Japan's Working on a New Driver's Licensing System to Help Protect Elderly Drivers

Japan has been experiencing a steep rise in fatal automotive crashes involving elderly drivers in recent years, and rather than simply banning older people from driving, according to a report Wednesday by the Japan Times, it's come up with a new driver's license system. This system could help ensure that only those people who are physically capable of driving safely remain on the road. Japan's solution would involve a mandate that drivers 75 and older take a cognitive assessment test when they attempt to renew their driver's license. It would also encourage elderly drivers only to use vehicles equipped with certain modern safety features to help pick up where their reflexes might have left off. These would include automatic emergency braking and lane keep assist. Read the article at cnet.com.
