AAMVA Thanks North Carolina Commissioner for Service

Arlington, VA – During its 79th Annual International Conference in Charlotte, North Carolina, the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA) congratulated Mike Robertson, outgoing chair of its International Board of Directors, for his dedication and service during the past year. Robertson led his tenure with the theme “Move to a Better Tomorrow,” focusing on improving day-to-day operations and technology systems throughout the motor vehicle and law enforcement community and offering more web-based systems to customers while building and enhancing relationships within the AAMVA community. In his home state, Mike serves as the Commissioner of the North Carolina Division of Motor Vehicles (NC DMV).

“AAMVA has been very well served by Mike’s leadership at the helm of our association over the past year, and we have greatly valued his guidance and support on the Board of Directors for the past few years,” said AAMVA President & CEO Neil Schuster. “Mike tackled a number of challenges and will leave the Chair position with AAMVA stronger and better able to succeed in the future.”

Robertson has worked in a number of capacities throughout his law enforcement career. He is a veteran law enforcement officer with service in the State Bureau of Investigation, Department of Crime Control and Public Safety’s Division of Alcohol Law Enforcement, and the North Carolina Highway Patrol.

Founded in 1933, AAMVA actively promotes traffic safety and uniformity among North American jurisdictions. Representing chief motor vehicle administrators and law enforcement officials, the association develops uniform programs in driver licensing, vehicle titling/registration and motor carrier services, among others.
